

Chief Executive Officer

Irish Heart Foundation

As the only national charity fighting heart disease and stroke, two of the primary causes of premature death in Ireland, the Irish Heart Foundation's (the Foundation) mission is to eliminate preventable disability and death, and to support and care for those living with these life changing conditions.

Recognised for life-saving training initiatives, a highly innovative culture and strategic partnerships with key collaborators, e.g. the World Health Organization, the Foundation advocates to promote the health of children and adolescents as well as for adults at risk of cardiovascular disease, and provides a range of support services for over 5,000 patients. As the national patients' organisation for people living with heart conditions and the impact of stroke, the Foundation has an annual budget of €8m and is served by a highly committed staff of 82 professionals, together with hundreds of volunteers around the country.

The Board of the Foundation now wishes to appoint a CEO to build on the impactful results and strategic successes of recent years. Working closely with the Board, the incoming CEO will:

- lead a united and highly effective senior executive team;
- inherit a financially robust organisation on which to build for the future;
- continue with the delivery of our current Strategy to the end of 2024 and plan for the future strategic direction.

The ideal candidate will nurture the Foundation's culture of empowerment, be an articulate and committed advocate for patients and a skillful interlocutor with the influencing skills to positively impact relevant policy formulation. In addition, the incoming CEO will bring good governance experience and strong networks to build on the strategic development of the Foundation.
